FAIR TRADE ORDERS
Have you seen one of Traidcraft's current catalogues yet, or looked online? If you have, you will have noticed that they are using more pages to tell us about the products, suppliers and producers so that we as customers can make informed choices. Have a look today online or at your Autumn/ Winter or Christmas Catalogue and you will see how different these are to most others. Ask a friend why they buy Traidcraft or tell a friend why you buy Traidcraft but be quick; goods are flying out! Order through me, your Fair Trader and you may have more chance of securing what you want but I can't work miracles!

ADVENT BIBLE STUDY
Student Presbyter Jason and I will be running the group on four Fridays (27 Nov, 4, 11, 18 Dec). It will take place at 11am for about an hour on Zoom. All are welcome. We will be using the study called Now - and then: Reflecting on 2020 through the Christmas Story, a fascinating way to explore the challenges that have been 2020 and find hope in the future in Jesus' name. We hope you will join us for some interesting and thoughtful ways to work through the experiences we have shared, and to work out how we feel about it all, through our faith and our response to Christ. Student Deacon Sarah

CARRS LANE FAIR TRADE SHOP STOCK CLEARANCE - THANK YOU
We are very grateful for the minor flood of orders that we were able to fulfil before the lockdown. Special thanks are due to a small nucleus of regular customers. As a result our stocks have been diminished significantly. We still are aiming to have sold all the food and cleaning materials before Christmas (as the shop closes by Dec 31st) so would very much appreciate your further orders (by email or phone) that we plan to fulfil after the lockdown ends, hopefully on Dec 2nd. As far as the craft items are concerned, prices have been further reduced to encourage your purchases for Christmas. We look forward to hearing from you. Joan & Derek

Download the lists of remaining food and craft items from the church website: <https://carrslane.co.uk/stock-clearance-update/>
Please order from Joan Duffield on 0121 444 5479 or email dandjduffield@outlook.com
